I started my own esthetics, health and wellness business in 2010 when I first graduated and moved to Dallas, TX. I have always had an entrepreneurial spirit and a love for all things beauty, health and wellness related. After relocating back to Birmingham and building a new home within The Heritage Park section of The Preserve in 2012, I established my home treatment room where I regularly treat clients for various skincare concerns such as acne, rosacea, anti-aging, body-firming, cellulite recovery and hair removal, just to name a few. My most popular treatment is called dermaplaning. In this service, I use a specially designed blade that glides gently along the surface of the client's face removing any dead surface layer skin along with the tiny, fine hairs resulting in baby soft, glowing skin.

As a child, I would frequently perform beauty treatment on my friends and family. Over the years, they would always come to me for beauty advice and ask me to do their hair and makeup. In high school and college, I worked part-time with a couple of major cosmetic brands. After graduating from Samford University with a degree in Counseling Psychology, my heart was still drawn to the beauty industry. Later, I decided to complete my studies in esthetics and start my own business. It has been one of the greatest decisions of my life. I am so honored by the trust and confidence my clients place in me to help them achieve the skin goals they desire.

Your skin is your largest organ, covering and protecting all the other organs and systems within the body. Nurturing and preserving this amazing sheath, will help keep you healthy for many years to come. I welcome The Preserve residents to schedule an appointment for a skin assessment or to come be pampered in a quiet, serene home-based setting within our beautiful neighborhood.
